WOMAN'S RALLY

ENTHUSIASTIC "DRY" GATHERING VOWS RENEWED WAR ON ALCOHOL

(Contributed)

Quite a large audience of women with some few men gathered at the Baptist church, on Tuesday morning, to hear the excellent program which had been prepared to arouse the enthusiasm of all the advocates of "California Dry," and to do more to convince any of the doubtful mind that we as women owe it to ourselves, our families, our state, and our nation to make the victory in November a sweeping one.

The first speaker was Mrs. Martha W. Law, president of the Los Angeles Federation of the W. C. T. U., who took for her subject, "What Women Have Accomplished." One statement that she made was that the drink bill in New York city alone was $1,000,000 a day, so for that reason New York would never go dry until we have National Prohibition.

After this Mrs. Frank Arnold sang "Look Up, Oh Heart," and also gave a pleasing encore.

Mrs. W. A. Galentine, president of the first section of the Mother's Congress, was the next speaker, and naturally her remarks were more as to the ill effects of alcohol upon the children. In a very large percentage of the feeble-minded and dullards among the school children, the cause could be traced back to the fact that either one or the other of the parents was addicted to the drink habit.

Mrs. William Herman West closed the morning's program by singing "Laddie," after which all adjourned to the dining room below and partook of a very bounteous luncheon.

The afternoon session was opened by two violin slos by Prof. Lowinsky, after which Mrs. West sang again, giving this time the beautiful "Serenade" by Schubert.

Mrs. Frank Wheeler of Los Angeles then gave a reading, and the Sanitarium Quartet sang one of their well-known campaign songs, "Prohibition Victory."

Mrs. Seward Simons, president of the Friday Morning club, was the next speaker, her subject being "Social Service." She asserted that the general attitude toward prohibition has changed; whereas two years ago it was rather unpopular, now it is just the thing to be in favor of it and to talk for it all the time. Scientific investigation along lines of health, economics, etc., makes the subject one of national importance. Every one should feel a strong moral responsibility when they vote, no matter on what subject, and every woman should consider whether she would be willing to sacrifice her own sons or daughters and then vote by that feeling. The liquor interests are afraid of the women voters, for they were the ones who worked against woman suffrage. In closing Mrs. Simons said that no one defends the saloons as they are, because they can't, but they do defend the grape industry, so the saloon keepers are hiding behind the grape vines.

The quartet again favored us with a song, after which the last speaker of the day, Mrs. Frank Wheeler, District Superintendent of the Dry Federation, was introduced. She firmly believes that if California goes dry, we shall soon have National Prohibition. If we do not vote "Dry" we will become the dumping ground of the western coast. She further said that in her tour of the State she found that very many more young girls are learning to drink these days than used to and then made the statement that we as a nation can continue to exist if the men to some extent indulge in alcoholic drinks but if the women take to it too that our doom is sealed. Finally, she urged the importance of every "Dry" registering and then going to the polls and voting. Don't stay at home, for if only five in every precinct stay at home we are beaten, and remember that five isn't a very large number.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, who presided over the meeting, then called on Mrs. Ruby Smart, president of the Glendale Federation of the W. C. T. U., who offered a resolution thanking the ladies who had given their time to come to speak to us, the musicians, the trustees for allowing the use of the church, the Glendale News for their generous notices, and any one who in any way contributed to the success of the meeting.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Thursday; warmer; westerly winds.

BIRTH OF GLENDALE

J. C. SHERER DESCRIBES CONDITIONS IN DISTRICT FROM 1878 TO 1883

"My first view of the present site on which Glendale stands," said J. C. Sherer, city clerk of Glendale, "was in the year 1878. I and some friends from Los Angeles went in the summer of that year out to visit Dr. Lanterman of La Canada, at the Lanterman ranch there. The sons still own the ranch. What struck me as much as anything else was the luxuriant and vigorous growth of mustard trees all along the hillsides. Their marvelous golden hues enriched the mountains in vivid contrast to the fresh green of the grass still retaining the moisture of the rains. The biblical reference occurred to my mind with great force concerning the mustard seed, 'which indeed is the least of all seeds, but when it is grown it becometh a tree and the birds of the air build in the branches thereof.'

"At that time there were a number of small houses along Verdugo road, which was the path we pursued to get to La Canada. Verdugo road is a very old county road. These houses were occupied by Mexicans. There was a small store then at the corner of Verdugo road and what is now Colorado boulevard. The Olivas family lived at that point and some of them are there still. Among others was the Snee family. Snee was an Irishman who had married a Spanish woman.

"Down in the neighborhood of Ninth street were several Spanish families. Among them was that of Jose Maria Verdugo, who occupied an adobe house on the east side of the road. He had 19 acres of hill land. A number of these small holders of land had been given holdings of 7 acres and a fraction. The grants had been made by the Verdugos.

"At that time there were no improvements. Along San Fernando road in the vicinity of Verdugo there were several families of the name of Hunter. The original Hunter was an English sailor who had married a Spanish woman and acquired large holdings.

"About the same time Mr. Richardson acquired the Richardson ranch of 600 acres. That was then known as the Santa Rosalia ranch.

"In what is now known as Lomita park H. J. Crow had already started a fine orange orchard of 25 acres. It was at the first time I saw it in a most flourishing condition. There were also six improved farms along the foothills, among them those of Judge Ross and Captain Thom.

"I bought land at my present location on Verdugo road in the year 1880 paying $50 an acre for it. I purchased five acres. A few months later I purchased an additional piece of ground which cost me $100 an acre. The same land is now held at $2000 an acre.

"At that time flocks of sheep were pastured throughout the valley. Here and there were patches of barley and the ranchers big and little seemed to live in comfort. Yet in 1880 the greater part of the valley was still in sage brush and chaparral. Birds of every kind abounded. There were numerous large and healthy flocks of the valley quail and quite a few deer. It was not so difficult for a small rancher to live on the produce of his ranch as one might imagine.

"There was no systematic water supply in the valley then. An open ditch conveyed the water from the canyon along the base of the foothills westward and southward down into the valley. This ditch was tapped here and there by those who wanted water. For many years that ditch was the main water supply of the district. In the end of 1882 or possibly the beginning of 1883 a combination of Los Angeles people consisting of Mrs. Wright, Mr. Hodgson, Mr. Wicks and Mr. Watts of Pasadena purchased a large tract of land lying to the east of Verdugo road. This was then known as the Verdugo tract. They also bought the Sanchez ranch in the foothills at Casa Verdugo.

"It was evident that the new era had begun and people began to purchase still more. It was in the year 1883, in the spring, that I moved out. So I have reason to believe that I am one of the earliest settlers in the present city of Glendale."

From San Francisco a company of California engineers has also been sent.

C., Sept. 27.—General Funston, in a communication received here this morning, states that investigation proves that the Americans were to blame in the recent clash between United States soldiers and Mexican troopers, at Del Valle. One Carranzista was wounded and one Carranzista officer killed.

SYMPATHY STRIKE LOOKS LIKE FAILURE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—In spite of the confidence of the labor leaders that they would get half-a-million men to join the sympathetic strike in aid of the striking carmen, very few unionists walked out today. The leaders are disappointed but assert that there will be a large turnout tomorrow. Gov. Whitman is being urged by members of the State legislature to convene the senate and assembly in order to deal with the strike.

AVIATOR DOWNS SEVENTEENTH PLANE

ALLIES DOMINATE THE AIR ABOVE THE CONTENDING ARMIES ON PICARDY FRONT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, Sept. 27.—The French aviator Mungasser downed two German planes in the vicinity of Combles, on the Picardy front, this morning. This makes seventeen German aeroplanes that he has destroyed. The airfighting is completely dominated by the Allies, who keep the heavens above the fighting forces filled all the time with fighting and observation planes of all kinds. The French planes hurled many tons of explosives on the German depots behind the lines and destroyed great stores of munitions of all kinds, just before the recent advance.

STRONGHOLD TAKEN AFTER FIERCE FIGHT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Sept. 27.—After a devastating artillery preparation the French and British drove forward on Combles and captured it. The Germans were driven out with heavy loss, but took their stand farther back at Thiepval and on a high ridge east of that place. The British troops drove forward and captured Thiepval and the famous Hohenzollern redoubt, considered impregnable. Four thousand German prisoners were taken. The German trenches and the redoubt were filled with a large stock of munitions and provisions. The town of Combles was also filled with munitions of every kind.

POULTRY SHOW

FAVOR HOLDING SHOW—MONEY WILL BE FORTHCOMING—EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE WILL MEET

Members and friends of the Glendale-Tropico Poultry and Pet Stock association met at the city hall in Glendale Tuesday evening, September 26, for the purpose of making arrangements for the annual poultry show which will be held some time in the month of December. The meeting was called to order by Dr. G. Irwin Royce, president of the association. In the absence of the secretary, Mr. H. W. Wood was appointed to fill that position.

Dr. Royce stated that it is now time for the members of the association to begin to make arrangements for the coming show if it is thought best to have one. He asked for the opinion of those present as to the advisability of holding an annual poultry show. H. E. Colby, real estate dealer, spoke upon the subject, stating that he thinks there is no enterprise which tends to work for the betterment of Glendale more than the poultry show. He said that the poultry industry is bringing to Glendale a great many well-to-do families, and he is of the opinion that the annual show, such as has been held for the past two years, creates an interest in the raising of poultry. The chairman stated that the main drawback to the holding of a poultry show was the lack of money.

A. T. Cowan, editor of the Glendale Evening News and the Tri-City Progress, in reply to this, said that he thought that if the question is put up squarely before the citizens of Glendale, there will be no trouble in raising sufficient funds to conduct a successful poultry show, that what the people will want to know is if the association is prepared to use the money to the best advantage, and that the people really feel interested in the show. With these inquiries satisfactorily answered, the money will be forthcoming, providing it is solicited in the proper manner. He also stated that he stands ready to give the show all possible publicity, as he believes in such an enterprise in the community.

Dr. A. M. Duncan of Tropico, who is a member of the association, said that if the show is held he will have birds on exhibition, and, as an officer of the association, will do all that he can to make it a success. Dr. J. F. McArthur, who is also one of the officers of the association, said that he thinks the proper way to arrange for the coming show is to call a meeting of the executive committee and have them determine upon the plans to be carried out in conducting the show. At this time a motion prevailed that the executive committee meet Thursday evening of this week, and that this committee ask the board of trustees of the City of Glendale to make a suitable appropriation for the purpose of aiding and financing the show.

E. E. Emerson of 1017 San Fernando boulevard, which is a short distance West of Burbank, is a member of the executive committee and he spoke very favorably of the prospects of a good show. Mr. Emerson is a poultry judge of considerable distinction, and also a large poultry breeder. He took an active interest in last year's annual show in Glendale. C. L. Cox, who is a member of the association, stated that he stands ready to do anything he can to make the show a success, and thinks that the introductory arrangements be left in the hands of the executive committee, who are men of ability.

W. Stofft of Stocker street, North Glendale, said he has some birds he will exhibit if a show is held, provided the chicken thieves do not get all of them before that time. He said people in his neighborhood are sleeping on their shot guns these nights, that they may be ready to protect their poultry yards. W. H. La Fountain, a resident of Glendale, said he raises some fancy poultry and has been trying to learn for a few months how he may be able to become a member of the Glendale-Tropico Poultry and Pet Stock association. His name was immediately enrolled as one of the members. R. R. Davis expressed himself as being in favor of a poultry show this year. He said he entered a few birds last year, and was fortunate in carrying away several ribbons.

The question of the members of the association uniting and buying feed in large quantities was taken up for consideration. Several of the members present seemed to favor the project, but Mr. H. W. Wood said that he did not think such a scheme would be practicable as it would be a great responsibility for someone and it would not be likely that anyone would care to shoulder this responsibility.

It seemed to be the unanimous opinion of those present that it is possible to hold a very successful poultry show this season, and the citizens of Glendale are asked to cooperate in making it one of the best shows that has ever been held in the San Fernando valley.

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Laughter and jollity marked the lawn party given by the Senior girls yesterday afternoon, in the shadow of the majestic old administration building.

An announcement last week, which emphasized the fact that refreshments would be served brought out most of the girls, and a great number of the teachers. Games and races were indulged in, and merriment prevailed. A suit-case race between the teachers was won by Miss Eggert. The Scrubs ran off with the peanut race, leaving Sophs, Juniors and Seniors far in their wake. Margaret Taylor won the discus throw in real Greek style. Refreshments consisted of punch and wafers.

While the girls were enjoying themselves on the lawn, athletic preparations occupied the attentions of the boys of the various classes. The Sophomore basketball squad, under the watchful eye of their captain, Orville Williams, worked out in the gymnasium. Senior tennis hopes played several exciting games to decide on the Senior class team.

The High school faculty tennis team went down to defeat before the onslaught of the Intermediate racket-wielders in a hard fought match on the east court yesterday. The High school team promises a better showing in the return match.

Real music resounds through the halls of the school these days, for Mrs. Gibson is getting her orchestra into fine shape. The school needs a band too, and there is plenty of good material this year, but a band-master is lacking. It is hoped that one may be found soon, for, with the drill-corps and the long list of games to be played this year, a band would mean a lot to Glendale High.

A departure in the drawing department this year is a Freshman pen and ink class under the direction of Mrs. Shepard. Formerly ink drawing was only offered to students having completed a year in elementary freehand drawing, but this new work is given in connection with the freehand course. Students may take both, reciving a half credit for each. It is hoped, in this way, to secure large advanced ink classes in coming years, to facilitate the production of an artistic Stylus.

Miss Elsie Church, of the class of '14, was a visitor at the school yesterday. They just can't stay away.

The Seniors were the first class this year with a party. A jolly group it was that gathered at the home of Miss Hope Armstrong, 315 Blanche avenue, Tropico, early yesterday evening to have a good time. And a good time they had, too. Games and dancing, and a big bowl of punch contributed toward making every minute of the evening golden. Those present were the Misses Earnestine Lyons, Catherine Phillips, Margaret Boucher, Lillian Schick, Margaret Butts, Katherine Renshaw, and the hostess, Hope Armstrong; and the Messrs. Olin Wilson, Kenneth Beldin, Miller Fischel, Irving Westwood, Frederick Butts, Carleton West, Bill Balthis and Howard McGillis.

SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Mrs. A. Hewetson Landman, 1560 Myrtle street, who has studied music and specially the theory and practice of piano music, in the best national academies of England, is prepared to give lessons on pianoforte, harmony and theory of music. Mrs. Landman makes a specialty of teaching children and beginners. She has had a large experience in teaching. She holds special certificates of the highest grade from the Royal Academy of Music, London, England. Her examinations netted her the highest honors conferred in that world-known institution. In the local examinations in music in the city of Hull, England, she was the only one out of 74 to pass with the highest honors and received a special prize on that occasion. Mrs. Landman will receive pupils at her residence.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1916

PROGRESS OF EVENTS IN CHINA

Yuan Shi-Kai, the once famous emperor-president of China, is dead and all that remains of him or his policies is a disagreeable scandal concerning graft in the matter of his funeral charges. The aspect of politics in China is something very different now from the time when Yuan, who was an able politician, held the reins of government. He lost his grip toward the last and was never the same man after the time when in a fit of anger at the disgrace he conceived had fallen on him he killed his favorite wife and child and intended to commit suicide but waited until he was murdered.

There is no strong hand on the helm in China at present. Dr. Sun-Yat-Sen, the great reformer, shows no inclination to take part again in the game in which a man's head is so often the stake. Li Yuen Hung, who is the chief minister at Peking, shows no definite policy. The country is rent by factional feuds and hopelessly divided between the north and the south.

That is a serious matter in a country where there are almost 500,000,000 inhabitants. A war between North and South, which is threatening at present, might easily result in something worse than the American Civil war. The Chinese are a warlike people when once they have been roused. Their training has made them indifferent to shedding of blood and they regard death with equanimity. In China a man condemned to death can find a substitute for himself by undertaking to pay an annuity to the widow and family of the substitute. Executions frequently take place on the public streets and it is quite a common sight to see a batch of criminals kneeling down on the public square in the center of a big laughing crowd, while the headsman goes from one to the other and cuts off heads with dexterous blows of his sword.

Poeple of that kind are easily induced to fight and there is nothing more wildly ferocious than a Chinese mob. As trained soldiers, of whom the northern government in Pekin is supposed to possess 400,000, the Chinese are excellent fighters. In the eleventh century the Chinese made remarkable expeditions among the Himalayas to fight the Goorkhas, the famous little hillmen who have always been such dreaded fighters and whose descendants are at present fighting with their pristine vigor in aid of the Allies on the Picardy line. The Chinese at that time beat the Goorkhas. It would seem that it would take but little to raise armies of several millions that would prove equal to any other trained troops.

Japan is watching the movements and the armings of these two bodies—north and south—with marked interest at present. Japan is in a difficulty. If she should back up the north she would antagonize the south and it might be a matter of some trouble to subdue that warlike section. The south of China also is a good customer of Japan.

Matters are not satisfactory as they stand at present. It is in the interest of all the nations of the world to prevent was in China. No single nation should have an opportunity to step in there. If Japan should support the South then war with the North would be unavoidable. If Japan's intervention is to bring about an intervention of the Powers Japan will probably leave the Chinese meantime to work out their own salvation, which would be the best thing for them.

PEOPLE OF PICARDY

Picardy, where the most desperate of the fighting in Europe is going on at present, is an old country. It figures in Caesar's Commentaries, as part of Belgium. Its people at the time of the Romans were distinguished for their fighting qualities. They were of that desperately brave type that goes laughing into the fray. The laugh is grim perchance but they are and always have been men to be feared when the battle was on.

In Dumas' novels Picardy and its people are prominent. They were notorious for their love of contest. The men of the country that lies between the Somme and the Oise were famous for their fiery temper. They were "picards" easily piqued. The modern names in Picardy are old names to be found in Caesar. There is Vermandois, which in Latin was Vermandui. There is Soissons, the tribe known to the first Caesar as Suesiones. The Ambiani of Caesar find their echo in the modern town of Amiens.

The very Roman cast of countenance can still be found there and that fine, well-proportioned type of woman, which used to be typical of the ancient Roman race, is still to be seen in the country that lies behind the trenches.

This country of Picardy was always recognized by strategists as a fine land for maneuvers and defense. The keen eye of the Roman caught its possibilities at once and he built roads and fortified hills and took possession of and held those very heights that are resounding today with the roar of the big guns.

It will be remembered by many that Calvin, the famous Protestant reformer, so often called of Geneva, was born at Noyon in Picardy. That probably accounted for his inflexible nature and his deep and unshakable determination. The people of Picardy have always been fighting, sometimes with arms in their hands; sometimes in church councils, sometimes in the king's court. Victor Hugo tells of the Picard's peculiarities in "Notre Dame," where the Picard "nation" is one of the divisions of the students in the university. Every reader of history has heard of the famous regiment of Picardy of 1558, created by Henry II.

The Picard's turbulence was as well known in the time of Napoleon as in the time of Caesar. In Lever's thrilling novel, "Tom Burke of Ours," the Picard, Francois, the little regimental fencing master, with his constant desire to engage in dueling, his boastings, his bravery and his undaunted courage in the presence of a hundred difficulties is a typical man of this ancient people. His constant watchword,

> "Picardy first and then Champagne
> Anjou, Brettany and Maine—
> Hurrah for the Faubourg of St. Antoine," resounded on many a battlefield in Europe. He was the product of the province, born perchance in the heart of Paris, France, but a true Picard. Under the stimulus of Napoleon's genius for leadership these men became heroes and under the stimulus of France's necessity at present the Picards are fighting like heroes on their own soil.

INCREASES PENSION TO WAR WIDOWS

On September 8 the president signed an act passed by Congress, which grants increased pensions to widows of Civil War veterans, if over 70 years old, restores remarried widows to the pension roll, and grants pensions to widows who married soldiers before June 27, 1905. Those who married after 1890 were formerly denied pensions.

Congressman Randall, who was active in securing the passage of the law and who secured in addition the approval of eleven special acts granting pensions, offers his servcies in assisting widows to receive promptly the benefit of the new law.

In order to avoid delay every pensioned widow should write a letter at once addressed to the Pension Commissioner, giving the number of her pension certificate, the name and service of the soldier, the date of her birth and place of her birth, her name as it appears in her pension certificate, and her present postoffice address in full. This letter should be sent to Congressman Charles H. Randall, Highland Park, Los Angeles, who will urge prompt action by the pension office. Many thousands of similar requests have already flooded the pension office, and it is safer to make application through a congressman.

Widows who desire to be restored to the pension roll or who are now eligible under the 1905 provision should write full particulars to the congressman also, and their cases will be carefully piloted through. No claim agents or attorneys will be recognized by the pension commissioner and no money should be paid to anyone in these matters, according to Congressman Randall's statement.

RABBIT'S EYE FOR GIRL

PORTLAND, Ore.—New York's best surgeons will endeavor to restore the sight of Melba, a seven-year-old Eskimo girl, who was found deserted in an igloo by Dr. L. H. French, United States government physician in Alaska.

The cornea of a rabbit will be grafted upon one affected eye and a cataract removed from the other.

In charge of Mrs. Corinne Call, a government teacher, the child arrived in Portland recently. Mrs. Call says the Eskimos left Melba in the ice hut, hoping she would die. She has been totally blind for five years. The trouble is diagnosed as an eruption of the cornea.

The first regular meeting of the Columbus Avenue Parent-Teacher association will be held Thursday afternoon, Sept. 28th, at three o'clock in the school house.

Prof. R. D. White, supervising principal of the Glendale City schools, will be the speaker. His subject, "The Trend of Education," is a vital one and of such importance that all members should be present. All patrons of the school and friends and members are cordially invited.

CLUB APPLICANTS

The following ladies have made formal application for membership in the Tuesday Afternoon club: Miss Harriet Nichols, 1322½ Hawthorne street; Miss Margaret C. Nichols, 1322½ Hawthorne street; Mrs. H. SUSPICIOUS MOVEMENTS

In confirmation of the recent reports that there are men visiting private houses under the pretense of being assessors, there comes a report this morning from Mrs. P. F. Renfrow, 1542 W. Fifth street, that a man acting in a suspicious manner was in the neighborhood of her home this morning. Mrs. Renfrow says that this individual, equipped with a notebook, took a minute and unwarranted interest in the houses of that quarter. Citizens are warned to keep a lookout and report such characters to the police the moment they are noticed.

GREEK GARRISONS JOIN THE REVOLUTION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Sept. 27.—It is believed that Ex-Premier Venizelos is engineering a revolution against the regime of King Constantine. His friends and supporters in Athens left this morning in large numbers. The garrisons all over the country have joined the revolutionary movement and their officers have encouraged them to do so. Army officers and government officials are leaving the capital as rapidly as they can. Venize'os before leaving Athens declared that if the Athens regime did what was right he would stand behind it.

QUALIFICATION OF ELECTION CLERKS AND JUDGES

Facts are coming to light in the recent testimony being secured from witnesses concerning the incorrect and careless counting and disposing of the ballots at the primary election by the inspectors, clerks and judges, that go to show that there must be a gross carelessness in appointing men who are unfitted for the position clerically and morally. In instances where there was miscount of a number of votes the evidence is very plain that the person making that miscount was either clerically careless or else he was dishonest. There is no need in this age of enlightenment of having on the election board men and women who are unable to keep an accurate record of a few hundred ballots.

VISIT THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

A very common fault of the patrons of a public school is that they do not visit the schools. Methods of doing work in the public schools have changed considerably since many of the residents of Glendale attended school, and it would now be quite interesting for them to spend several hours witnessing the boys and girls at regular work some day. Do not get that very unreasonable idea that the schools of today are not doing the work they did formerly, and then for fear that you may be convinced that you are in the wrong, stay away from the school room so there will be no chance to prove to you that your ideas are erroneous ones.

At your first opportunity take a walk to the Glendale Union High school building and spend a large portion of the day in the manual training rooms and there witness the practical work the boys are doing. You will receive courteous treatment and you will be pleased that you took the time to witness this very valuable work. The boys in that department are turning out pieces of wood work that when you were a boy you would have been proud to have had in your possession. The girls in another department are being taught sewing, cooking and various useful kinds of work that are important for any girl to learn.

After visiting all the departments of the various schools in the city, then, if you see fit, come to the Glendale Evening News and offer your criticisms, but the chances are that after making a thorough visitation of the schools you will offer words of praise instead of criticism.

METHODIST APPOINTMENTS

After a long night and day session, the appointments were finally completed for the Methodist churches of this district by the cabinet in conference at Santa Ana. This conference has become so large that it was decided to form another district, to be known as the Long Beach district.

The First Methodist church of Glendale is happy to again have Dr. B. D. Snudden as their pastor for another year. The West Glendale church will have Rev. C. A. Norcross for the coming year. Mr. Norcross was formerly with the Arlington church. Rev. H. J. Hartsell, who has been pastor of the West Glendale church for the past two and a half years, is to be with the Pico Heights church of Los Angeles this year. Dr. Julius Soper has been returned to the Casa Verdugo M. E. church for the year and his people are happy to have him back.

RECEPTION TO TEACHERS

The Parent-Teacher association of the Pacific Avenue school gave a pleasing reception to the teachers of that institution, Tuesday night. There was a good attendance. Mrs. Ella W. Richardson presided and opened the proceedings with a brief speech, in which she spoke of the gratifying spirit of harmony that prevailed between the parents and the teachers and urged sympathetic cooperation on the part of all.

The program was opened by Mrs. Boyer, who played with exquisite taste a sonata by Schuette, and as an encore a medley of national airs, composed by herself. This was played with great discrimination of light and shade. Mrs. Herman B. West sang in her finished manner with great archness and humor, "The Ould Plaid Shawl" and "Three Little Chestnuts." Mrs. J. A. St. Clair then gave two readings, "Back From the Depths" and "The Lovers' Mocking Bird," both of which were much appreciated. Patricia St. Clair, with her mother as reader, gave a dramatic interpretation of "The Angel of Light," and in response to an encore recited a song from "Pippa Passes." After the program a most enjoyable hour was spent in social chat while coffee and cake were served.

The teachers present were Mrs. Fanny Stone, Miss Lilly Smith, Miss Ellen Mosher, Miss Webster and Miss Nellie Todd.

PUBLIC CLOCK IN BANK

The Brand Boulevard branch of the Bank of Glendale has installed a clock for the benefit of the public. This clock, which is the first of its kind put up in the city, is fixed on the north wall of the bank close to the window fronting on Brand Boulevard and is visible at all times to the public. This clock is regulated by the Western Union Telegraph company and sets itself automatically every hour. The time given is Pacific time as determined by the Naval Observatory at San Francisco. The dial of the clock is large, with distinct figures easily seen at some distance. The officers of the bank are:

F. H. Vesper, president; C. M. Walton, vice-president; D. H. Smith, vice-president; Herman Nelson, cashier; M. G. Smith, assistant cashier. Directors in addition to officials: Thomas F. Cooke, Frank Campbell and A. W. Beach. D. H. Smith is cashier of the Boulevard branch.

MOTHER'S STUDY CIRCLE

The Mother's Study Circle will meet at the Pacific Avenue school Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Mrs. Toll and some of the ladies of her circle will be present and conduct the reading tomorrow. We know that all the ladies will be very anxious to hear this, and hope for a very large attendance.

PAUL HUTCHINSON HURT

Last evening, while roller skating on the sidewalk in front of his home, Paul Hutchinson, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson of 200 Orange street, had a bad fall in which the bones of his left arm were fractured. A physician was called who set the bones, and Paul was reported resting as comfortably as possible under the circumstances this morning.

The world is wide,
In time and tide,
And God is guide;
Then do not hurry.

That man is blest
Who does his best,
And leave the rest;
Then do not worry.

TROPICO TRUSTEES

PATRIOTISM, DOGS, FIREMEN'S COMPENSATION AND SIGNS ARE DISCUSSED

Tropico's board of trustees was requested at Tuesday night's meeting to provide light for the illumination of the flagpole on the Tropico grammar school grounds, where the ladies of the W. R. C. will have a new United States flag float to the breeze both night and day. Mrs. Gregory of the Patriotic department of the corps brought the request before the board. She stated that the school children of Tropico at the present time are not saluting the flag, and that it is the intention of the W. R. C. to replace the old flag with a bright new one—one which will be saluted by all.

It was Mrs. Gregory's contention that a light over the flag at night would not only serve its patriotic purpose but would attract attention to the town. "Culver City," she said, "has a light over it's school's flagpole."

Trustees Seal, Alspaugh and Henry, and Mayor Peters, were unanimous in granting the request. A motion by Trustee Henry carries a provision of $12 a year for the maintenance of the light on the flagpole.

E. Schilling was awarded the contract of opening and improving Hill street in Tropico, the contractor named being the lowest responsible bidder. The new street which has been more or less of a trail in the foothills in east Tropico will intersect Moore avenue.

A contract between the City of Tropico and the publisher of the Tropico Interurban Sentinel was prepared by the city attorney and submitted to the board for approval. This matter was continued for a week.

Lengthy discussion on the form of settlement with Mrs. Larsen, a property owner between Adams street and Moore avenue, held the board's attention during the early part of its session. It appears that when an extension of Adams street was constructed by the city, Mrs. Larsen donated a strip of land with the understanding that the city and an interested real estate dealer would present her with more than a sufficient sum of money to pay the great frontage assessment against her property. At the time the improvement was made, Mrs. Larsen was to have received about $600 for her relinquishment. The money has not been forthcoming and a personal financial tangle complicates the matter so that the trustees will likely let legal lights settle the matter in court. The 60-foot strip of roadway over which the tangle hangs was made necessary for flood control. The entire matter was referred to the public works committee, which is to effect a settlement if possible.

Dogs had their inning when Mr. Chandler, an elderly resident of Tropico, appeared before the board and protested the keeping of kennels in the residence section of town—the kennels in question being located near Tropico avenue and Walnut street. He claimed the dogs were a public nuisance.

"Has a dog got a right to bark?" asked Trustee Henry.

"If it does, you can declare it a nuisance and issue a complaint," answered Attorney Hartley Shaw.

"And those dogs across the street are fighting right now," said Mayor Peters, who was occupying his official chair in the council room above the clerk's office and heard the canine yelps.

Dr. Mabry, city health officer, who had investigated the case of too many dogs, reported that from three to a dozen canines were kenneled across the street but he understood that they would be removed within the next few days by the owners. The health officer stated that he had great faith in persuasion as the dog owners had graciously yielded to his request to abate the nuisance at the earliest convenient date.

Al Jones, who conducts a Tropico shoe repair shop, while serving as a fireman at a brush fire in the hills east of Tropico suffered 28 painful days of misery from coming in contact with burned poison oak—for which suffering and disability to work he was allowed $7 as compensation by the insurance company carrying the Tropico city liability policy.

Justice and the method of computing compensation apparently missed connection in this instance and the trustees could only offer Jones compensation in the way of condolation for duty done.

City Marshal W. J. Gould told the board that a complaint had been made to him regarding a sign erected near the intersection of San Fernando and Brand boulevards, proclaiming "Tropico, The Growing Center." The business men who had the board erected overlooked the city ordinance prohibiting signboards to be erected within less than 150 feet of a street intersection. The marshal was instructed to enforce the ordinance and see that all conflicting signs be made to comply with the law.

The auto bus license ordinance was adopted by the board. The Tropico officers feel confident they can enforce the licensing of the many public carriers along the San Fernando boulevard. It is expected that a test case will be made by the first busman stopped for not having a Tropico license.

CHINESE LAW STUDENT

With the expectation of becoming the first Chinaman ever admitted to the bar in Michigan, Anthony Yuen Seto, a recent graduate of the Detroit College of Law, has arranged to take the state examination. He is an American citizen and a registered voter.

He was born in Hawaii of Chinese parents. Shortly after his birth a new constitution was adopted which gave to all born on the island, no matter whether of Asiatic parents or not, the right to citizenship, and later all children so born were made citizens of the United States.

If Seto passes the examination successfully and gains a footing in the practice of law, he will go to China, to see, as he says, of what use he can be in that country. He even hopes to bring about a better understanding between China and America.

A LATE TREE CENSUS

A tree census was recently taken in Paris. The city has nearly 14,000 elms, 17,000 chestnuts and 5,000 sycamore trees. The total number exceeds 114,000, and nearly all are in good condition.

NEW YORK'S WATER SUPPLY

A city possessing a pressure system capable of elevating water a vertical distance of nearly 300 feet above the street level without pumping, is one of the modern triumphs of engineering. It is to be found in New York's new Catskill supply system. Compared with the fifty-foot heights attained by the average city water pressure, this is really marvelous.

High up in the mountains artificial lakes have been created at a distance from 100 to 125 miles away. In the case of the Metropolitan tower, for example, this height to the supply enables the water to rise unaided 285 feet above the ground level, or 485 feet above the pressure mains which are themselves 200 feet below the street surface.

Before entering the city from the source of supply it was necessary to bore through the solid rock of mountains, tunnel under rivers and lakes and far beneath city streets and skyscrapers that the city might be reached by the shortest route consistent with engineering economy.

CANADIAN EXPEDITION

Part of the Canadian Arctic expedition, led by Vihjalmur Stefansson, has returned to Nome, Alaska, after spending more than three years in investigations on the north coast of Canada. The party left Nome in July, 1913.

Dr. Anderson of the Southern party (the section which has returned) reports that Stefansson may not return until some time in 1918, as he is carrying on some investigations which will be of great scientific value. Dr. Anderson's party brought home many tons of specimens of rare scientific interest.

LARGEST FREIGHT STEAMER

From Italy recently came the steamship Milazzo to New York. The ship's captain states that it is the largest vessel in the world devoted exclusively to the carrying of freight; it is also distinguished on account of the new system of freight handling which is used. The ship came to New York on her maiden voyage from Genoa.

The ship is equipped with a system of cars and elevators which enable her to discharge her enormous cargo in a very short time. She was built at an Italian port, where a similar steamship is now being built. Through the bottom of the hold runs a system of tunnels in which the cars are operated. They are hoisted to a height where the cargo can be discharged or loaded onto another vessel by gravity.

PRODUCE BY MAIL

A new device in which country produce can be shipped without danger of breakage or spoiling has been approved by the Post Office Department of Washington. The arrangement consists of a cylindrical box with inner fiber partitions in which eggs and other parishable merchandise will remain intact even when the box is carelessly handled.

Wtih the co-operation of American farmers it is thought that the parcel post business will be more than doubled by this invention.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

A careful study of the "junior high school," which is being experimented with in various sections of the country, is being made by the General Education Board of New York. This method of bridging the gap between elementary and high schools by reorganizing the work of the seventh and eighth grades and the first year of high school received much attention from the last meeting of the National Education association.

Five months have already been devoted by a staff of educational experts to a first-hand study of the public school system at Gary, Indiana. It is realized that, while special study must be given to the education of defective children, special attention should also be directed to the future of talented boys and girls.

PUPILS FIGHT PESTS

In Philadelphia a campaign has been carried on by the boys and girls of the public schools against the caterpillars which have been devouring the leaves of the trees. In addition to this destruction, the pests leave thousands of descendants behind.

As the eggs are not laid until the moth stage is reached, every caterpillar killed means so many less of the next generation. School pupils were instructed to bring their collections to the public playgrounds for burning, and instructed as to the best methods of procedure.

It is estimated that nearly 100,000 boys and girls took part in the campaign during various parts of the summer, and wonderful results were secured toward exterminating the pests where they were doing the most harm.

MECHANICAL HAND

A wealthy citizen of Paris has offered a prize of $10,000 to the inventor of the mechanical apparatus which best supplies the place of the hand. The conditions are as follows:

"Competitors must present to competent authorities, mutilated men who have been using their apparatus for at least six months. Then it must be put to prolonged test on other men who have suffered mutilation or loss of hands. The competition will be closed two years after the end of the present war."

It is thought that such an ample prize will be instrumental in bringing out an apparatus that will enable thousands of men more or less disabled to engage in self-supporting labor.

WORLD'S CLEANEST TOWN

The cleanest town in the world is said to be Broek in Holland. It has been famous for its cleanliness for hundreds of years, and the inhabitants take great pride in maintaining the tradition.

The yards and streets are paved with bricks of different colors and kept so scrupulously clean that a lady could in fine weather walk anywhere in satin slippers without fear of soiling them. Heavy fines are imposed by law on any persons who may be found littering the streets or in any way soiling the fair aspect of the place.

NEW TYPESETTER

A typesetting machine has been perfected, which is operated by a typewriter, making it possible for a stenographer to perform the entire operation of setting type and printing ordinary business circulars and similar matter. It is intended primarily for use in business offices.

When the typewriter is used it not only performs its ordinary functions, but also, through electrical devices and connections made by the movements of its keys, actuates a mechanism which simultaneously sets the type for printing the matter that is being written. It requires no more time to set the type than the typing of the copy.

The printing is done in much the same way as in multigraphing. A type distributor is also a part of the machine; it distributes the type in proper channels after the copies have been run off, with a speed of about 150 characters a minute.

BRAZIL'S FINE RAILWAY

The railway in the Western Hemisphere that is producing the most revenue to the mile is in Brazil. It is the Sao Paulo, 134 miles long, from Santos to Jundiahy.

This road carries more than one-half of the world's supply of coffee. It is well equipped with modern improvements, and is the best managed road in South America.

TRUE NOBILITY

"It is easy to be noble among the noble. The difficult thing is to keep the nobility of one's nature unperverted among the petty and ignoble."
